

The Hôtel Littéraire Alexandre Vialatte, Clermont-Ferrand

The Hôtel Littéraire Alexandre Vialatte is situated in the Place Delille, "a square shaded by plane trees in the very heart of Clermont-Ferrand," as described by the writer in "L'Auvergne Absolue."

At the foot of the historic centre of Clermont-Ferrand, close to the Basilica of Notre-Dame du Port, a gem of Romanesque art, it's an ideal starting-point for exploring the city where Vialatte lived for several years.

The hotel offers 4-star comfort and has 62 rooms, of which 30 or so are twin rooms, and one of the most beautiful panoramic views over the rooftops of Clermont-Ferrand. The terrace on the 6th floor has a 180° view of the Puy de Dôme, the Chaîne des Puys and the spires of the cathedral.

The tram is just 50 m away, the SNCF railway station 800 m away and the airport 15 minutes away,
A 10-minute walk from the city centre and fast motorway access

The Auvergne - a region of a thousand and one surprises

From the Puy-de-Dôme to Allier, via Cantal and the Haute-Loire, the Auvergne is a region with a fabulous heritage.

It has a wealth of natural resources, such as the Chaîne des Puys, the pride of the nation, which is classified as a UNESCO World Heritage Site and is sure to amaze nature lovers.

The magnificent Notre-Dame-du-Port Basilica is classified as a historical monument, and can be seen from our panoramic room on the 6th floor. This gem of Romanesque art is just 50 metres from the hotel.

You'll love travelling along the green, hilly roads, amidst towns and villages with an outstanding architectural heritage, admiring the fortified castles and churches ...

And what would the Auvergne be without its gastronomy! Its mountainous, wild terroir will transport you to a land of cheeses, fruits picked in the wild and excellent charcuterie.

Welcome to France's "green lung!"
